

Lindbergh Flies Over Old Air Mail Route

Landed in St. Louis Ahead of Scheduled Time, Flying Over the Route That Was His Before He Became Famous—Coming to Albany Next Week.

St. Louis, Feb. 21 (AP)—Flying a Douglas mail plane ahead of schedule, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Lambert-St. Louis field at 9 a. m. today, completing a round trip over his old air route between St. Louis and Chicago in an effort to advertise the postal air service.

The response of the public to his appeal was far beyond the fondest dreams of air line operators. From St. Louis alone yesterday afternoon, Lindbergh and five other fliers carried 1,297 pounds and ten ounces of mail matter. Approximately half a ton additional was picked up at Springfield and Peoria.

After a quiet night with his fellow pilots in the apartment of a flier at Chicago, Lindbergh was at the Chicago flying field shortly after 5 a. m. today. At 6:12, with the cockpit of his plane filled to the top with mail, the flying colonel took the air.

He landed at Peoria at 7:25 a. m., within five minutes the Peoria sacks had been unloaded and he was on his way again. He landed at Springfield, his second stop at 8:05, and took off again within the five minutes provided by the postal schedule.

An hour later the round trip was completed. Lindbergh taxied his ship up to the waiting mail wagon and, leaving the plane in custody of mechanics, quickly donned his full-lined flying suit, stopped a few minutes to talk to newspapermen, and prepared to leave the field for the day.

In reply to questions as to his future plans, he said he intended to fly to Albany, N. Y., next week for a conference on February 29 at which state aeronautical code would be discussed. On March 1 he is scheduled to appear at an educational convention in Chicago. He did not think he would fly the "Spirit of St. Louis."

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO OLD TIME COMEDIAN

New Rochelle, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—The theatrical world paid a final tribute today to Eddie Ford, when the old time comedian was buried in this Westchester county city where he had lived for years between the engagements that brought him to the heights of success as one of the nation's greatest fun makers.

Stars of the stage who had known him at the beginning of his career and others who were still youngsters when the lights of the great white way were blazing the name of the famous clown laid him at rest in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery not far from his home—just forty-five minutes from Broadway.

His seven children and many old friends of the New York stage and the musical comedy and vaudeville loops attended the rites. The widow, still bordering on collapse, left a sick bed to go to the church.

FIRE DESTROYS LAKE SHORE SUMMER RESORT.

Lockport, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—Fire, believe to have been caused by defective wiring in a motion theatre, early this morning destroyed the Newcastle Inn, the Castle Theatre, a bakery and damaged several adjoining buildings at Olcott Beach, a summer resort on Lake Ontario, 12 miles north of this city.

The village has no water supply or fire protection, and adjoining villages were called on for aid. For a time the entire business section was threatened. The loss is placed at more than $300,000. The fire is the second disastrous conflagration to sweep the village and resort in less than a year. More than a dozen cottages and summer homes, with St. Andrew's Church, a bowling alley, roller rink and several other buildings were leveled by fire early last spring.

Made Flaming Torch of Woman

Unknown Victim Found Along Lonely Road With Clothing Soaked in Gasoline—State Trooper Says It Is an Attempted Murder.

Morristown, N. J., Feb. 21 (AP)—A deliberate attempt to burn a woman alive was seen by state police in the finding early today of an unidentified woman with her clothing ablaze on a lonely stretch of road near here.

The flames were enveloping the head and shoulders of the woman when she was discovered by Enos Campbell, of Bernardsville, a passing motorist. He beat out the flames and took the unconscious woman to a hospital here where she died several hours later.

State Trooper Leon said the woman's clothing had been saturated with gasoline and that there were several pools of gasoline near the spot where she was found. He held the theory that she had been brought to the spot in an automobile by companions, and her clothing saturated and then set afire.

The woman was described as about 35 years old, of medium build, slightly gray hair. She wore tortoise shell glasses. The only marks of identification found by the police were a label in her hand reading "Bedell of Paris," and one in her dress giving the maker's name as Louis of Buffalo.

German Labor Lockout Averted

Berlin, Feb. 21 (AP)—A threatened lockout of 800,000 metal workers in central Germany was averted today by acceptance of the Minister of Labor's award in the wages dispute by the metal manufacturers.

However, they make withdrawal of their projected lockout conditional upon the workers at all the plants reporting for duty immediately.

Should the men fail to return to work, the lockout will become effective throughout Germany on February 23.

The metal masters promise that no penalties will be imposed on the strikers, and declare that they are prepared to reinstate the men on full shift.

The arbitrators' award, which was for an increase of five pence an hour in the men's wages, gave rise to considerable discussion before it was accepted by the manufacturers. The minister of labor, notwithstanding the differences between masters and men, declared that the award was binding.

Neighbors and two Sargeant's fire companies could do nothing to check the flames, which had gained much headway. Although the house was insured, it is understood that Mr. Flicker will suffer considerable loss.

Spring Dress Up Week in March

Uptown Business Men Dinner and Discuss Plans for Coming Trade Events—Better Roads and a Successful Race Meet in Kingston.

At a meeting of the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association Monday evening it was decided to hold an annual Spring Dress Up Week, at which time the new spring merchandise will be displayed. This event held last year proved to be very successful and again this year there will be window displays and prizes awarded for the best window display. In order to get the Dress Up Week started in time so that all merchants might have an opportunity to do something big, a committee consisting of Henry Pein, O. F. Fahrmeier and R. H. Battie was appointed to meet immediately and make arrangements for the event, decide upon the date and also to discuss other events which the association proposes to put on during the spring.

The probable date for the Spring Dress Up Week is about the middle of March, when new spring merchandise has been received and when there is every opportunity to make a most attractive display of new spring goods.

Dress Up Week always brings a spirit of friendly rivalry among the members of the association and causes every merchant to do his utmost to outdo his neighbor in the matter of smart, snappy displays of spring merchandise. The window contest in which a prize is offered for the best window display has caused some very clever window displays in the past and this year will be no exception.

During the progress of the meeting Mr. Flemings announced that several new members had been secured and there were a number of others who desired to come into the association.

The meeting was attended by thirty members who after enjoying a well served dinner at the Kirkland Hotel adjourned to the hotel parlors where the business meeting was held.

Several other matters were discussed among them features which the Association expects to make public at a future meeting of the members when the plans have developed to a more mature state.

The matter of better roads leading into Kingston was discussed and Secretary Coe was instructed to communicate with the highway department and ascertain when the situation is to be relieved and how soon Ulster county may expect its share of modern highways. It was suggested that all of the Kingston business associations get behind the matter and work for better roads.

Mr. Flemings was appointed a member from this Association to meet and advise with the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations in regard to the racing meet and exposition which will be held in this city on August 12, 13 and 14 at the Manor Avenue track.

After considerable other business of interest to members of the association had been discussed the meeting adjourned.

Plans for the Spring Dress Up Week will be developed and the dates fixed by the committee. As plans go forward they will be announced and the public may expect something to equal or if possible surpass the event of last year.

LENGEL FREED BY COURT DIRECTED VERDICT

Lisbon, Ohio, Feb. 21 (AP)—Siramus A. Lengel, former chief of police at Canton, once convicted of the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton editor, was freed of the charge by a directed verdict in his second trial here.

Judge W. F. Long sustained a defense motion for a directed verdict after he had previously upheld the defense in its fight against the admission of testimony of Floyd Streitenberger, former Canton detective, given at Lengel's first trial. The second trial was ordered by the court of appeals.

Streitenberger had been brought here from Ohio state penitentiary, where he is serving a life sentence for his part in the Mellett killing. He had been expected to repeat the testimony given at the first trial which was credited with Lengel's conviction.

Plan Big Events In Connection With the Races

Exposition With Cattle Exhibit, Horse, Pet Stock, and Dog Shows, Including Hot Dogs, Is Expected to Bring Crowds Here Next August.

A meeting was held Monday afternoon at the store of Maben & Walker on Broadway, at which time the matter of the horse racing program in this city on August 12, 13 and 14 was further discussed. As plans are developed the event begins to take on the form of an even bigger proposition than was first hoped for. Monday several additional committees were appointed and these committees will form the nucleus around which will be built up a big program.

Plans are now going forward to make the week of the racing a week of celebration and entertainment. In addition to the racing events there will be a cattle exhibit, horse show, dog and pet stock show and possibly an automobile show. There will be hot dogs and other concessions rented and a big time in general.

Details for the various events will be worked out by committees and racing week will probably develop into a gigantic exposition and display week.

The proposition of putting on an exposition where all kinds of merchandise can be displayed was left to Mr. Coe. Under his jurisdiction this matter will be worked out and it is expected that the exposition will be one of the features of the week.

Harry Walker will head the committee on racing. A. H. Chambers will have charge of the cattle exhibit. Kenneth Archer will be in charge of the horse show and J. D. Schenck was appointed head of a committee to discuss and determine whether it would not be advisable to hold an automobile show in connection. If an automobile display is made at that time Mr. Schenck will be in charge of that division. Dr. H. A. Clarke will be in charge of the dog and pet stock show.

At the meeting Monday afternoon all of these features were discussed and the possibility of making the event one of worth while proportions seems bright. Anyone interested in any of the various matters should get in communication with the head of the particular committee which has charge of that work. Those interested in entering any of the exhibit classes should immediately take up the matter.

An invitation has been extended to the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau to take an active part in the matter and they now have the matter under advisement.

A big Kingston exposition held in connection with the horse racing program, cattle, horse, dog and pet stock shows will be a big drawing feature.

As plans mature and the proposition takes form there is every indication that the event will become a big thing. Early cooperation of all lines of business is desired so that plans may be made to take care of the various activities. Meetings will be held from time to time as necessary to complete plans and the heads of the various committees ask that the public cooperate to make the event a huge success.

$7 a Plate for Jailbird Dinner

Assemblyman Proposes Yuletide Banquet in Long Island Jail in Discouraging Jail to Increase Salary of Suffolk County Sheriff.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—Suffolk county representatives in the Assembly divided sharply today on advancement of a bill designed to provide for an increased salary for the county's sheriff and several additional deputies. Hints of the Ku Klux Klan were introduced into the debate, and the bill was characterized as intended solely to insure the selection of "a certain gentleman" as delegate to the Republican national convention.

The bill was introduced in Albany, born in sin and reared in corruption, declared John Boyle, Jr., assemblyman from Huntington.

The salary of the sheriff is the only one in county service not fixed by the board of supervisors, Mr. Boyle declared, and the bill is really designed to get a salary of some $10,000 a year for the sheriff, rather than the $6,000 specified.

"When the new courthouse is completed," he said, "the sheriff will get not only his quarters and his living, but his wife is mistress at $1,500 a year and his daughter is a deputy sheriff or secretary or something."

"There are 25 prisoners in the Suffolk county jail. Last Christmas Day they have the prisoners a dinner. A laudable undertaking, but the records show that 150 pounds of turkey was consumed, although there were only 25 prisoners, and the bills now on hand for the dinner show that it cost $7 per prisoner. Crime is a luxury in our county."

"I know of no demand for this bill, have heard of none, and believe it to be purely a personal matter, a safety first measure to insure the selection of a certain gentleman as a delegate to the Republican convention."

The introducer, John C. Downs of Catochogue, declared the bill is designed to bring the salary of the sheriff on a par with other similar county positions and to provide for sufficient deputies to police the county. He spoke of a mass meeting at which the request was made.

"I wonder if the gentleman referred to a mass meeting or a masked meeting," said Louis A. Cuvillier, Tammany Democrat. "If you want to make all these additional deputies members of that infamous order, do it some other way."

Mr. Boyle moved to recommit and refused to withdraw his motion, to permit Majority Leader Russell G. Dunmore to speak. The motion was lost on a voice vote, and the bill was then advanced to the order of final passage without further discussion.

Water Board Planning Raise in Water Rates

Fire Destroys New Salem House

Fire, which is thought to have started around the chimney in the kitchen of the two-story frame dwelling of Augustus Steigerwald at New Salem, burned the house to the ground this morning. No one was home at the time.

The Kingston fire department received a telephone call for assistance about 9:41 o'clock this morning to which Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and the Cornell pumper responded. When the firemen reached the scene it was found that the house was a mass of flames. The Edenville fire department was on the scene having responded to a call, and by their work had managed to save adjoining buildings.

The Steigerwald house with all of its contents, aside from a few articles of furniture, was totally destroyed.

Sunday Movies Up to Aldermen

Editor Freeman:

Tonight is the night so long looked forward to when the Common Council will come to a showdown on the much talked of question of Sunday movies for Kingston. It is said by those who seem to speak with authority that the council has the number of votes to pass the matter. It will then undoubtedly be referred to the Laws and Rules Committee of which Alderman Relyea of the Eleventh ward is the chairman, and the other members are Aldermen Molyneux, Clare, Haines and Everett.

When the matter comes out of this committee there will undoubtedly be a minority report presented, but this will be a mere matter of form and will have little weight. When the measure comes out of the Laws and Rules Committee the Mayor will have ten days to consider it. It is said that his Honor will veto it, but as the council has—so the advocates of the measure state—the required nine votes to pass it over the head of the Mayor, it will be only another matter of form. It now behooves those of our citizens, who are opposed to Sunday movies, to be on hand tonight. There has been so much said about the matter and the clergy and others who are opposed to Sunday movies may take warning, and if they see fit may be courageous enough to give the council and those who are determined to commercialize the Christian Sabbath, a fight for their rights. We shall see what we shall see.

Seize Distillery Near Dansville

Hornell, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—A distillery of the very latest design was seized early today near Dansville by federal prohibition officers from Buffalo and Elmira, and two men who gave their names as Chris Mascato and John Cazzaro of New York were taken into custody.

The seizure was the result of several weeks of investigation on the part of federal agents. The plant, which consisted of a 250-gallon copper still with a fifteen-foot column was housed in a two-story wooden building in the town of Osan in Livingston county, near Dansville. The two men were found in the building at the time and Mascato attempted to leap from a second story window.

In addition the agents seized 2,000 gallons of mash and 70 gallons of alleged distilled spirits. According to agents the plant was of the very latest design, a type that is now used by the government itself. The equipment is estimated to be worth more than $50,000.

The board of water commissioners of Kingston is planning to put into effect a raise in the water rates of the city on April 1. The new rates, it is said, will add about 25 per cent to the present rates. It is expected that the new schedule of rates will be ready for adoption by the board at its March meeting.

The purpose of increasing the rates according to one of the members of the water board, is to pay the first charges on the bonds that have been issued covering the cost of the improvements that have been made to the water system.

Some of the improvements made have been the raising of the dam at Cooper's Lake an additional height of eleven feet; the building of an equalizing reservoir; the laying of new mains in the city and also across the Esopus creek; the purchase of about 500 acres of land at Mink Hollow to prevent pollution of the water, and the building of a 24 inch pipe line from Mink Hollow to one of the reservoirs.

Has Spent $450,000.

In making the improvements to the water system the water board has already spent approximately $450,000 for which water bonds have been issued and sold.

Planning Another Improvement.

This summer the water board is planning to expend about $200,000 in building a pipe line from Cooper's Lake to the Reservoir No. 2 which will eliminate the pollution of water as it passes through the village of Woodstock and vicinity. This line will cost approximately about $300,000 to build.

On Par With Other Cities.

One of the members of the water board when questioned today, stated that the new rates will be about on a par with the present rates in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh. He also stated that the new rates will be about the same as the rates in force about twelve or more years ago. At that time the water rates were lowered and have remained lowered.

The new schedule of rates will be published as soon as adopted.

Renum's attorneys contend that he was illegally committed to the hospital as the commitment papers were improperly drawn up. Renum was brought to the hospital here after a jury had found him not guilty of murder by reason of insanity.

John Robinson and C. G. Anthony, both hospital attendants in Renum's ward, said they had talked frequently with Renum and they saw nothing irrational or dangerous in his conduct. Robinson expressed the opinion Renum was sane.

AND IS GIVEN TO WORLD'S LONELIEST MAN IN DEATH

Aged Recluse, Survived by No Kinsfolk, Is Saved From Burial in Pauper's Grave.

Fullerton, Calif.—The final chapter of a life of utter loneliness was written here when funeral services were held for Bartholomew Dobermeier, seventy-four years of age, of La Habra, who died at the County hospital, survived by no kinsfolk and but few friends.

Through the generosity of La Habra women, who made up a purse to defray funeral expenses, Dobermeier was spared what would have been the final ironic touch, burial in a pauper's grave.

Although he had lived in La Habra for the past six years, Dobermeier had but one intimate friend, Harry Haueher, legless photographer.

To Haueher Dobermeier told the pathetic story of his lonely life. He was a native of Germany, and when but a little boy his father promised him that when he was old enough to make a man's pair of boots he would give him money with which to come to America.

At thirteen years of age the boy started on his journey to this country, with no friends to go to, no resources except his ability to make boots. On the boat he met a girl, fifteen years old, who took him to friends whom she was joining in Iowa.

There he spent many years, making his living as a shoemaker. He never married. Haueher does not know what became of the girl. Dobermeier never heard from his parents or his sister.

Coming to La Habra, Dobermeier occupied a grub wagon parked on the railroad right of way in front of a packing house. He made few friends, always seeming afraid that he might impose upon those who attempted to be kind to him.

The old man was a conspicuous figure when he appeared upon the streets of La Habra with his long white beard, walking slightly stooped, with his hands behind his back.

Find Young Indians Shorter and Heavier

Lawrence, Kan.—When so-called workers at the Kansas bureau of child research set out to make some individual growth studies of Indian children they found the little brown-skinned Americans so much heavier than the white children of the same age that the ordinary height-weight-age tables did not "fit" them.

Through the courtesy of H. B. Peairs, formerly superintendent of Haskell institution, federal Indian school here, data and measurements were obtained on 21,637 Indian girls and boys from government Indian schools throughout the country from which a new set of tables was constructed. Contrary to what one would expect, the Indian children were found to be shorter as well as heavier than their white brothers and sisters.

The Indian boys ran from one to four inches shorter and from one to six and a half pounds heavier than white boys, while the Indian girls were from one to two inches shorter and from one and a half to four and a half pounds heavier than their white contemporaries.

"Considering the fact that the tables represent many degrees of admixture from around 80 tribes," said Miss Emily H. Ferris of the bureau, "it is probable that they show in a highly modified degree the structural differences between full-blooded Indian children and American white children."

Criminals Cover Ears to Avoid Identification

London.—Keeping pace with the times, lawbreakers of England have gone back to the style of disguise used in the days of the Inquisition.

Since Scotland Yard, like the Paris detectives, has selected ears as prominent marks of identification, hold-up men and others have resorted to the old-fashioned hood, which not only covers the face but the ears. The black mask of concealing days and the Jesse James handkerchief over the nose have been discarded as entirely out of date.

Not a single case of the use of masks by robbers has been reported in weeks, but there have been numerous instances in which the law violators wore the foolscap-pointed hoods.

Detectives say that as the shape of the ears is readily remembered by people in general they are not surprised that hoods are used so extensively now.

Ignorance About Snakes Costs Farmers Millions

Memphis, Tenn.—For the edification of those innocent snake fight fans who prove Barnum was right, Cary Jones, known in circus circles as the man who knows most about snakes, begs leave to say:

1. "Most of the stories about fierce snake fights are pure bunk."
2. "After years of watching snakes I can truthfully say they like to live in perfect harmony; this regardless of their species."

Ignorance about snakes costs the country about $200,000,000 a year, Jones estimates. Farmers who kill poisonous kinds are losing their best friends.

"These snakes live on rodents and other pests that destroy crops. They should be protected by law," he said.

LINDBERGH CAN'T STOP.

Though confessedly impressed by the results of Col. Lindbergh's "good-will voyages," Secretary Davis has urged that the "lone eagle" discontinue flying, and that advice "our Lindy" has emphatically rejected. What the Secretary of War seems to overlook is that Lindbergh does not regard himself as primarily a purveyor of soothing syrup upon troubled diplomatic relations, such business having been purely incidental in the prosecution of his serious aims as an aviator, including his demonstration that flying, with reasonable care after proper preparation, is a safe and reliable means of transportation. In the pursuit of this, his real aim, he has already advanced aviation very greatly.

Moreover, it is too much to expect that a young man of Lindbergh's energy, enthusiasm and dynamic force would now be willing to rest on his laurels, virtually retire, and resign himself to a relatively quiet and—to him—bore-some life. The restlessness in his blood could not be stillied by the mere recollection of the past glories of his brief career, and would drive him into fresh adventure even if his interest in the advancement of aviation were no longer keen. In short, Lindbergh, in order to find contentment, must continue to be Lindbergh.

WOMEN ON THE JURY.

At Albany, N. Y., on February 14 there was a hearing before the joint legislative committee of the Senate and the Assembly on a bill making women eligible for jury service on the same terms as men. It seems that New York has elected women to the Legislature and has one woman magistrate on the bench, but has not yet provided for service on juries by women. Taken by itself, this has a considerable element of the unexpected, but it is found to be less surprising in connection with the further information that only twenty of our States and the District of Columbia have as yet admitted women to jury duty. Twenty other states have not yet taken any steps in the matter. In two of the other eight states the courts have ruled against women in this capacity, and in six the qualifications and the practice are still in the process of being determined.

It would appear from this showing that the fitness of women for jury duty is by no means generally acknowledged in this country. The old idea that women are too tender-hearted to do justice to criminals is perhaps still entertained by many men, although the few homicide cases on which they have served are said to have revealed no indication of this. And it will be pretty generally admitted that women jurors are likely to be less lenient toward a criminal of their sex than male jurors are likely to be, particularly when the female criminal is good-looking. A weightier objection, as many see it, is that in no few cases women jurors are likely to be exposed to frankness of word and grossness of fact which refined members of their sex would desire to escape. To say nothing of the possibility of being locked up with a mixed jury overnight.

A FEDERAL "FENCE" LAW.

In the picturesque jargon of thieves the receiver and marketer of stolen goods is logically enough described as a "fence," for he is the protector as well as the convenient accomplice of the actual thief and without him thievery would be far more hazardous and much more limited in its possibilities. Behind the bandit gangs are the receivers of the loot, whose skilled handling thereof promotes as well as safeguards robbery. The system is said to be country-wide—a great business organized on a large scale and amply financed. The character and extent of this evil is pointedly indicated in a recent statement of Newton D. Baker, chairman of the National Crime Commission, wherein, after consideration of an exhaustive survey, he says:

The solitary burglar and beggarman of the past are disappearing. Their place is being taken by more enterprising and cunning youths from 17 to 25 years of age. This type of criminal shows an increasing tendency to form a "business" association with the kind and to cooperate in individual enterprises of small amounts, but in the hope of accumulating on a large scale.

Incidentally a single "fence" could handle a satisfactory number of several dozen thieves and it is more important to catch one of the former than a score of the latter. On the present main object of the Crime Commission is to locate and pull down the "fence" system. Laws are regarded as inadequate because the stolen goods are almost invariably transported to distant points with a view of after marketing. Hence the Crime Commission urges the enactment of a Federal law similar in principle to that which has checked the traffic in stolen automobiles and providing heavy penalties for the shipment or reception of stolen goods transported from one State to another.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

WHY YOU ARE OVERWEIGHT.

It would seem that this matter of overweight is occupying the attention of many thousands of people at this time.

As you know, some cases of overweight are not due to overeating and underexercising but to a lack of glandular action in the body.

Accordingly some of our stout friends are now taking thyroid extract with the idea of trying to get rid of the surplus weight.

However it has been estimated by research men that in every 100 overweight individuals, over 80 per cent can blame the condition on overeating and underexercising. This leaves then about 20 per cent who can blame the glandular system for their condition.

Now how can you tell whether your overweight is due to lack of glandular action or to the overeating and underexercising?

Where the gland is at fault, the individual has practically always been a little overweight for his age. He was likely a baby of good size, stout throughout childhood, and quite stout at puberty.

On the other hand the other type does not get really heavy until in his late twenties, when he stops taking active exercise and settles away into his life's work.

However a real scientific test is now being made as to which is the cause in any particular case, because it is hardly fair to have to cut down on food and take a lot of exercise if your gland is at fault. Accordingly a basal metabolism test is made, which as you may remember is the actual amount of work your body is doing when it is at perfect rest.

In proportion to your size and weight the body should be doing so much work. If it is doing less than your thyroid gland is not manufacturing enough fluid. If it is doing too much, then this gland is manufacturing too much thyroid juice.

What has this to do with overweight?

If your body tissues are doing less than the normal amount of work you would be justified in taking the thyroid extract under the direction of your physician.

Remember then that at least four out of every five cases of overweight are due to overeating, combined usually with underexercising.

Fire Caused by Rain

Rain set fire to a lumber yard at Folkstone, England. A truck containing lime and lumber stood in the center of the yard. During a rainstorm the rain beat its way through a tarpaulin covering the lime. The water, combining with the lime, generated heat, which set the timber on the truck on fire. This, in turn, set part of the lumber yard ablaze.

"WHICH WILL LOOK THE BEST?"

By John Cassel

Lest We Forget!

SOMETIMES we are so close to big things that we do not appreciate their bigness. Everyone is familiar with the trite expression—"Distant fields look greener", and although realizing the truth of the expression, we fail to grasp the opportunities that are close to us. We take them for granted.

Particularly for New York State manufacturers, this State offers outlets for enormous volumes of business that can be obtained easily and economically. Every manufacturer is giving considerable thought to costs—locating the factories so that shipping costs may be kept down, and practicing other economies.

At the very doorstep of these manufacturers, there are 1,175,288 families in New York State, outside of New York City. As a market is measured by its size and buying power, the value of this market is very evident by its size and is enhanced by its high income capacity. New York State pays more and higher-income taxes than any other State.

Then, too, as a means to sell this large market easily, economically and quickly there are available the newspapers of New York State. Their value is apparent by the fact that they go into practically every home in the State—1,531,466 newspapers are the daily source of information for this market. Their daily contact at a time when purchases are planned—their ability to tell where to buy makes them the more valuable.

One feature that is interesting to prospective advertising, is that of cost. It is possible to use 5,000 lines—50 insertions of 100-line copy—in all these newspapers at the total cost of less than 2 1/2¢ per family, reached.

Individual manufacturers are always interested in specific market data that will make their effort more productive. We have on file much information of value. Ask an Executive of this newspaper or write the Advertising Bureau, NEW YORK STATE PUBLISHERS, 709 Charlotte Street, Utica, N. Y.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS
The Quirky Feather Boa. Worn in Paris, the feather boa leaped into sudden prominence. Its reign was a short one, for it almost as suddenly disappeared. Such things do occur in fashion, of course, a recent example of this being the sudden flurry over little eye-veils and the almost as sudden disappearance of them from the scene.
The feather boa, however, has another possibility, and it was attractively manifested recently at a particularly brilliant opera performance, where women wore them with their low gowns, instead of the more usual scarf. They were extremely effective, especially a rose one, which extended to the knees and was rather flat and made of long, or knotted flues, the variety that became so much the rage, a decade or more ago, under the name of the willow plume.

In an Efficient Age
A future national problem is less to give us a chance to work happily than to play happily.—American Magazine.

White Moire Taffeta Has Ruffled to Dip the Hemline and an Ornament of Brilliance to Catch Its Drapery at the Front of the Waist, in a Graceful Model from Douillet.
Ostrich collars on evening wraps are nothing new, although usually charming, but the separate ostrich boa provides a flattering and comfortably accessory, and permits the introduction of a note of contrast in color, effective when the dress is either all white or all black, frequently the case just now.
The black taffeta robe de style, combined with lace, with net, or silver or crystal embroidery continues to be the outstanding feature of the Paris winter. The fact that wholesale houses report a great demand for taffeta can hardly be accounted for merely by such use, and seems to imply that taffeta will be good for other than the robe de style, for which it is, of course, the ideal material. One gown recently noted was made of crepe satin with black tulle, and was effective by way of change.

THE RIGHT WAY TO BANISH FAT
Combat a cause which modern research has discovered. Turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. Supply a natural element which your system lacks. That is the method embodied in Marmite's prescription tablets.
People have used Marmite for 20 years—millions of homes of it. They have told others the results. Now, in almost every circle, you can see the results in new beauty and new vigor. Why not learn the way to attain them?
A book in each box of Marmite tells you the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know why the effects come, and why they are beneficial. Go ask your druggist—in fairness to yourself—for a $1 box of Marmite.

Argues Against State Dry Law

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP).—August C. Fox, chairman of the Moderation League, Inc., today appeared before the Assembly codes committee and argued against re-enactment of a state prohibition enforcement law on the ground that it violates the bill of rights.
New York has had no enforcement law since the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law in 1921, but Assemblyman Jenks has introduced a measure seeking state enforcement.
Basing his argument upon the bill of rights provision that "no person shall be subject to be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense," Fox declared that "refusals by individual states to nullify their bill of rights" by enacting prohibition enforcement laws, "is a far cry from nullification of the Federal Constitution."
"Whatever the 18th amendment has done to us," he said, "it is powerless to touch that guarantee of the bill of rights. New York, Maryland, Nevada and Montana now stand united in refusing to place their citizens in double jeopardy to make a prohibition holiday."
He cited a case in which the state courts of Washington convicted a violator of the state enforcement law, who subsequently was tried again for the same offense in the federal court.
"Our refusal to subject our citizens ever again to this violation of our bill of rights is far from nullification of the Federal Constitution," he said. "Is it not nullification by the federal government?"
"Soon after the 18th amendment was ratified," he continued, "the federal government begged the states to enact so-called 'state enforcement laws' to the end that the states might thus lessen the burden of the federal government in its attempts to enforce the Volstead Act. We yielded, and in 1921 we passed the Mullan-Gage law. For more than a year, no one realized what we had done."
"Soon after its passage, one Lanza was indicted, tried and convicted in the state court of the state of Washington for a violation of its state enforcement law. The federal government then sought to prosecute him again for the same acts, and the United States district court refused to permit the prosecution. The United States appealed, and the Supreme court reversed the judgment, and sustained the right of the federal government to try Lanza and the same acts for which he had been punished in the state court. Our repeated refusals to subject our citizens ever again to this nullification of the spirit of our own bill of rights by the federal government, is very far from a nullification of the Federal Constitution."
"New York, Maryland, Nevada and Montana now stand united in refusing themselves to nullify the spirit of their own bills of rights. Refusal by the states longer to devote the time of their courts to trying alleged violations of state enforcement laws, only to find that the federal government treats as mere scraps of paper all judgments in the state court, is a far cry from nullification by the states. Is it not nullification by the federal government?"

TEABERRY TURNS TO NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING
From a salary of $1.50 a week to the head of a chewing gum company with a capacity of 6,000,000 sticks a day is a dramatic rise, especially as the development of one of the largest candy companies in the United States intervened and the growth of the chewing gum company has taken place in the short space of six years. But this is the story of D. L. Clark, president of the Clark Bros. Chewing Gum Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., which this month launches its first newspaper advertising program, a program which in the next six months will cover 500 newspapers of the country. Teaberry Gum is made from a combination of Mexican and Florida citrus fruits. In the fall, when the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina are covered with the red berries of the mountain tea shrub, whole families of natives, ten thousand workers, tramp the hills gathering branches of the shrub for Teaberry Gum. These the pickers dispose of to the general store of the mountain region, which in turn sells them to the distillers who extract the flavor and ship it to Pittsburgh where it gives the refreshing distinctive flavor to Teaberry Gum.

Always on top of his job How does he do it?

THIS man's commission check is always bigger than any other salesman's on the staff. He's a wonder! When he breezes into town after a gruelling business trip—with a bunch of orders in his pocket for the boss—he's always as fit as a fiddle. And just rain' to go off again.

How does he do it—living on trains—snatching hasty meals at railway station counters and small town restaurants? For ever on the jump.

If you could see him pack his bag for a trip, you'd know. A bottle of Nujol always goes in. Nujol keeps body functions normal, even under abnormal regime. Keeps hasty meals and indifferent food from upsetting you. Wards off the bad effects of change of water and climate. For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal.

Whatever your job is—you need health and energy to ride it. Take a tip from this star salesman and take Nujol regularly. You'll be amazed to find how much more clear-headed and all round efficient you feel. Keep up this treatment faithfully for 3 months and you'll feel like a million dollars. And you will have taken the first step toward getting it.

Star Salesman

Isn't Nujol worth trying? It was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). It couldn't possibly hurt you, anyway. (Nujol contains no drugs or medicine.) And if you're like other people it will do you a world of good.

Be sure you get the genuine.

Compensation Law Amendments

Proposed Changes Drafted by Attorney General Outtenger Will Cover All Occupational Diseases and Are Expected to Reduce Litigation.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP).—Six amendments to the workmen's compensation law, designed to guarantee and expedite payment of awards to injured workmen and women, reduce litigation over claims and extend the scope of the law to include all occupational diseases resulting from hazardous employment, were introduced in the legislature today. The proposals were drafted by Attorney General Outtenger after a study of the operation of the compensation law.

The measures were designed to: Make compensable every disease where it is established by medical testimony that such indisposition was due to the nature of the claimant's employment, rather than include only diseases specifically named as at present.

Extend beyond a year the time in which an injured or disabled employee may file a claim for compensation, instead of requiring as at present that the claim must be filed within a year.

Compel the appellant to file nothing but meritorious rather than technical appeals, thus having the effect of ironing out certain defective and questionable procedural practices now in vogue.

Employer the State Industrial Commission to impose a penalty of costs of $25 upon appellants who withdraw their appeals after having taken an appeal from the awards made by the commission.

Enable the state to collect where the injured employee was under age or illegally employed.

Enforce payment of awards in cases where the insurance carrier is insolvent or in bankruptcy or a receiver is appointed, in order to safeguard injured workmen against loss of compensation in cases of bankruptcy.

HIGH WAGES CAUSE FARM DEPRESSION

"The primary cause of the past eight years of the agricultural depression is that distribution charges have remained high since retail prices fell," according to Dr. G. F. Warren of the Farm Management department speaking on the "Agricultural Depression: Its Causes and Probable Duration" at the twenty-first annual Farm and Home Week.

Distributing charges are made up largely of wages and wages always remain high when prices fall. "A depression always occurs with falling prices because farm prices must fall disproportionately to retail prices and because agriculture cannot quickly reduce production and force the consumers to pay the high cost of distribution," said Dr. Warren.

"The farmer receives what is left of the retail price of food after distributing charges are deducted. In 1917, the retail price of food in the United States was 56 per cent greater than it was during 1910 to 1914 while the cost of distributing food was only 29 per cent above the pre-war level. This was a favorable situation for the farmer."

Tables Turn.
In 1917, the situation was reversed, and the retail price of food was 69 per cent above the 1910 to 1914 level, but distributing charges were 91 per cent above prewar.

Thus in 1917 the farmer received 53 per cent of the retail price, but in 1927 he received only 45 per cent. The agricultural depression is not due to surplus of food. The trouble is that the farmer is receiving a smaller share of retail prices because wages are high.

Taxes are high since they are largely spent for school teachers' salaries and wages. Labor unions delayed the rise in wages when prices rose and will probably delay the fall somewhat but only to a slight extent.

Conditions Improve.
In discussing the possible ways of meeting the situation Dr. Warren said he saw no chance of reducing distributing charges because wages always remain high when prices fall. The farmer can reduce production, and this is taking place, but due to the nature of the industry production cannot be curtailed at once. An increasing population would increase the demand for food, and this is occurring at the rate of 1½ per cent a year. The decrease in production and increase in population are gradually having their effect. The position of agriculture is also strengthened when people lose their farms, because the new owner generally sets the farm at about one-half what it is worth.

Dr. Warren said he expected the general price level to decline for the next ten years, but farm prices may go up during the same period. In the future he expected that city prosperity would decline and the condition of the farmer would gradually improve, but the situation would not be revised immediately.

Legislature Nearing Close

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP).—Session of a rapidly approaching end to the legislative session. The session today in the absence of debate on controversial measures which a week ago were the cause of heated discussions between Governor Smith and the Republican Legislature.

A bill designed to appropriate $150,000 for construction and improvements of Jones Beach State Park on Long Island and highways in the vicinity went through the Assembly last night without a word raised in opposition, in sharp contrast to the bitter words used by both sides in discussing it a week ago.

The Senate, on the other hand, passed with a single negative vote a bill calling for consolidation of the state architect's office with the state public works department—an issue which two weeks ago brought about several resignations in the architect's bureau and caused numerous architects' and builders' organizations against the state policy of consolidation.

The only measure which precipitated any debate last night was the appropriation bill calling for $900,000 for acquisition of additional land at the Saratoga battlefield instead of the sum of $150,000 originally recommended by Governor Smith and desired by Saratogians. Assemblyman Burton J. Esmond, Republican Saratoga, champion of the larger sum, renewed his attacks on financial chairman of the Legislature for making the reduction, but he was assured that the smaller sum would be quite sufficient.

During the course of the debate, Majority Leader Russell J. Dunmore hinted that owners of the land and holders of options might have made a "little profit" if the larger sum were appropriated, but this Mr. Esmond denied, holding that the state was under an historic obligation to acquire the additional ground. The measure passed unanimously however, with the Saratoga assemblyman declaring in favor of further appropriations rather than defeat of the $900,000 bill.

Both houses passed a large number of minor bills, among them 14 state reorganization bills in the Senate, and an $11,000,000 highway appropriation measure in the Assembly.

Muir Revival at Fleischmanns Opens

The T. LeRoy Muir Evangelistic Campaign in the Fleischmanns Community Church opened on Sunday with large interest. Delegations were present from Denver and Margaretville at the opening sessions. At the closing service on Sunday night a large chorus choir led in the singing of gospel songs from the Rodcheaver Song Book. Six year old Paul Veneable led in the singing of "I Need Jesus" and took the congregation by storm. Evangelist Muir sang with the harp "I Walk With the King."

Friday night of this week the evangelist will take for his subject "Is There A Hell?" A delegation from Halcott Center will attend the meeting. On Saturday night the boys and girls' choir of twenty five voices will sing songs and recite scripture verses in connection with the sermon. Next Sunday the evangelist will preach at 11 and 7:30 to everyone and at 2:30 in the afternoon will deliver his special address for women only entitled "The Prodigal Daughter or the Buying of Human Flesh." No children under 12 years of age permitted at this women's service. At 2:30 hour Evangelist T. Francis Smith of Pennsylvania will speak in the Halcott Center Church. The public is cordially invited to the services of the revival campaign.

We Believe in the Truth as Did George Washington When the Cherry Tree Was Cut Down.

What would you have done, had you been in George Washington's position when he felled his father's cherry tree and was being questioned about it?

With a little effort he could have denied his deed and have escaped the probability of a spanking. Results show, though, it was better to stick to the truth.

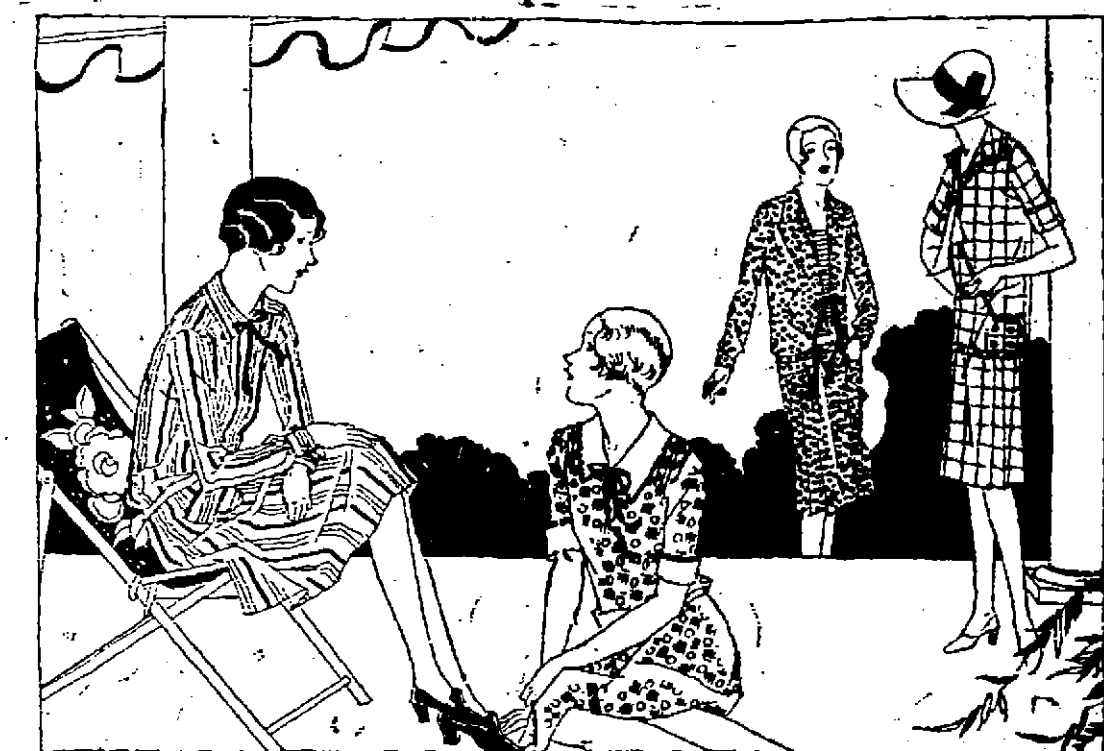

We all cut down cherry trees in our business, figuratively speaking, and how much better it is to admit it than to try to smooth things over and eventually get caught at it.

SPEEDY TYPIST HERE.

World Champion Shows Students How He Does It.

George Hossfeld, the world's champion typist, gave a demonstration of his skill before a large crowd of students and their friends at Spencer's Business School, Fair street, on Monday afternoon. The demonstration showed the almost unbelievable speed, combined with accuracy, that it is possible for one to possess who has been gifted with natural aptitude for typewriting, and who supplements this with application and constant practice.

Mr. Hossfeld's highest record to date is 125 words per minute for a one hour with ten words penalty for each error. Monday's speed tests were given by means of plain copy, strange dictation and from familiar matter.

In writing he used a blank keyboard Underwood machine and used the same scientific touch-system which is taught at Spencer's Business School. He copied from unfamiliar matter 125 words in 60 seconds without making an error, and from familiar matter he wrote 262 words in 60 seconds without an error.

The students were very pleased to witness the demonstration by the champion typist and were much encouraged and enthused by his wonderful operation of the typewriter.

New York—Gloria, daughter of the late Reginald C. Vanderbilt, is five years old today, and there was a cake of five layers for her and a dozen little chums at a party. The cake was 2½ feet high with little Cupids climbing up the side and peering into the fifth layer. A maggie and a Mother Goose contributed to the joy.

FINGER LAKES NATIVES PLEASE REPLY TO THIS.

58 Capital Street, Auburn, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Pupils in the Finger Lakes region of central New York, in country school and town, have set out to restore the tie between former residents of the lake country and their native home. We're sending greetings to men and women scattered far, who have gone to other fields but still in fancy wander back to the scenes of old.

Though they be strangers we pupils in our English classes want to write them a letter, just to remind them that a beaten trail of welcome leads back to the Finger Lakes and that we of the younger generation have a common love with them for the place they once called home.

We pupils are trying to locate former residents of Cayuga, Chemung, Onondago, Ontario, Seneca, Schuyler, Steuben, Tioga, Tompkins and Yates counties. We believe that through our letters in the newspapers of the country we can find them. Will you kindly help me to reach residents of your city who once came from our lake country? All I want to know is their names and addresses and the town from which they came.

Gratefully yours,
JOHN F. LAWLER.

Yale Officials Are in Favor of "Non-Scouting"

The board of control of the Yale Athletic association has asked institutions on Yale's football schedule for next fall to observe again the non-scouting agreement of the past season.

The vote of the board on the matter expresses appreciation of the generous and hearty co-operation of other colleges in playing football games without resort to "organized scouting." It says: "We feel that both game and players have benefited by the added tests of the initiative, self-reliance, and resourcefulness of the teams in action, and that the sport itself has gained by lessening the machiavellism."

Brooklyn Rookie Is Hard Hitter

IF MANAGER ROBINSON of the Brooklyn Dodgers had not secured Harvey Hendrick from New Orleans in the fall of 1926 he would have had the unique and most undesirable distinction of leading a club through last season without a single 300 hitter. This rookie was his lone representative in select batting company. But wait! Can Hendrick properly be styled a rookie? In the first place he is too old for a rookie, being thirty years of age. Then he was up with the Boston Red Sox back in 1921. Then he spent two years on the Yankee bench, and after that went to Cleveland, thence back to the minors and then back to Cleveland again. And yet the season of 1927 marked the first appearance of Hendrick on a major diamond with any regularity.

Hendrick played 128 games for the Robins last year and batted 328. Robbie bought him for an outfielder, and there he placed him at the beginning of the season. But while his batting was up to par, his fielding was not of a nature to gain him space in the headlines.

By the time the season was a month old Babe Herman had slumped so badly in his batting that Robbie was compelled to take this erratic young man out of the lineup and put Hendrick at first base. Hendrick continued to hit, but his first base play was short of major standards.

Robbie was in a quandary. Carey and Stutz were two of the greatest outfielders in the business, and Felix was quite a fly chaser, but not one of this trio was hitting up to 300. Herman, the sensation of 1926, was still in a batting slump and his fielding was erratic. So Hendrick, the lone hitter on the team, had to stay in the lineup.

And he could run bases, too. This husky supple young man from New Orleans stole 29 last season, being third in his league in that line.

What will Robbie do with Hendrick next season? The fans are wondering. He has announced that Blazebelle is to have the first try at the initial sack. And then there will be Carey, Stutz and Tyron in the outfield. What position will that leave Hendrick to play?

Flashes from the Training Camps

Boston, Feb. 21 (P).—The Braves were prepared to start their spring training up in earnest today, at their St. Petersburg, Fla., camp cheered by the presence of Rogers Hornsby. The former Giant star was apparently delighted with prospects. Batters were monopolized most of yesterday's practice but little Joe Gaudreau and Big Ed Brown got in some work. Gaudreau declared that his arm was in excellent condition and he was confident of permanent assignment to the hot corner.

Practically the only member of the club now considered to be a holdout was Luke Urban who recently returned his contract with a plea for more salary.

New York, Feb. 21 (P).—Mark Koenig, shortstop of the New York Yankees, has signed a two year contract with the world's champions.

Waite Hoyt, pitcher for the Yanks, is still a holdout although he is training at Hot Springs. At the present time he is paying his own way but when his salary is adjusted, he will receive a rebate from Colonel Ruppert.

New York, Feb. 21 (P).—The baseball fever is breaking out into an epidemic with the Giants. News from the training camp at Hot Springs, Ark., today indicating that players from various sections of the country are reporting for practice ahead of schedule.

Mel Ott couldn't wait for the Giants to advance on the regular training grounds at Augusta so he has joined the battersmen at Hot Springs. George Harper and Travis Jackson also have put in appearance and Jackson formally accepted the captaincy of the club offered by Manager McGraw.

The pitchers worked out between showers yesterday with McGraw on the side lines.

New York, Feb. 21 (P).—Dazzy Vance, the speed ball king, is still at odds over the salary arrangements offered by the Brooklyn Robins, dispatches from Wilbert Robinson's rendezvous at Dover Hall, Ga., disclose.

With five days left for the battersmen to report at Clearwater, Fla., it was reported Robbie had made an offer of $15,500 to induce Dazzy to come to terms.

Vance wants $29,660 per annum and a contract of two years duration, according to unofficial sources. In view of the recent procedure of the Robins in distributing one year contracts to players, Vance's case has created speculation over the outcome of the controversy. Robinson declared Vance would be no exception.

QUINN OF HOLY CROSS SPRINTS TO THE FRONT

New York, Feb. 21 (P).—Unheralded and unsung, J. F. Quinn, Holy Cross, has sprinted into the forefront with America's dash men. Competing against a crack field in the special sixty yard sprint at the New York A. C. games last night, Quinn captured his heat in record-equaling time, won the semi-final and final.

Arranged against the Holy Cross star were Al Miller, Boston A. A.; Karl Wildermuth, Georgetown; Kol and Locke, University of Nebraska; Folwell Scull, University of Pennsylvania; Jackson Scholz and Frank Hussey the New York A. C., and Quinn's team mate, Jimmy Daley.

A wild burst of speed gave Quinn the first heat in six and one fifth seconds, equalling the world's record set five years ago by Loren Murchison. Hussey trailed the firing collision by a few feet, going into the finals against Miller, Wildermuth and Scull. Quinn again showed his heels to the field but his time was two-fifths of a second back of the record. Wildermuth was second and Miller third.

Strangler Is The Champion

St. Louis, Feb. 21 (P).—Ed (Strangler) Lewis of Kansas City reigns today as undisputed champion of the wrestling world.

By defeating Joe Stecher of Dodge, Neb., champion of the title, in a three-fall match at the Coliseum last night, Lewis ended the quarrel that existed between them for some years; since the time the "Strangler" defeated Stecher in New York in 1929.

Lewis won the first fall in two hours of dreary wrestling, with a bar arm, half Nelson and scissors hold on the arm, in 2:16:32. He captured the third and deciding fall in 12 minutes 50 seconds with a bar arm, or perhaps a double wrist lock. Nobody was clear on the exact hold because of the excitement in the dramatically sudden finish.

Stecher won the second fall in a dizzy maze of quick action, lasting only fifty-six seconds. Lewis in a moment of carelessness, fell victim to a double wrist lock and was pinned in such astonishing quick time that he was dumbfounded, in winning the second fall, Stecher showed his only flash of aggressiveness during the entire contest. He was outwaged, outmaneuvered, out-tricked and outwrestled. Lewis carried the battle to Stecher from the start. He displayed super wrestling ability, trickiness, and courage. He won fairly and decisively, never leaving a doubt as to the outcome after the men had been on their feet for an hour.

Public Camp Site.

Dear Editor:

An summer approaches the question of a public camp site for the accommodation of tourists returns. Many cities have already provided such believing that it is not only an accommodation to the traveling public but a good advertisement for the town. Kingston could have such a place without any expense and it would be as serviceable and beautiful as any in the country. All that is necessary is to designate Forsyth Park as a public camp site. Here is installed already everything the public might need—water, tables, stove, shelter, a beautiful park and abundance of room. All that would be necessary would be a few signs directing the tourists. Its use as a public camp would not interfere with the local use as a park.

and Commercial

New York, Feb. 21 (P).—After three days of sharply declining prices, the stock market turned upward today as buying orders poured in for a wide variety of stocks. Investor states and a few other speculators developed weakness, but many of the standard rails and industrials moved up 1 to 3 points, with gains as large as 10 points in some of the favorites. Trading started at a brisk pace, but had slowed down considerably by early afternoon.

Call money opened unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent, but dropped to 4 by early afternoon. There was no change in the other monetary accommodations. Receipt of $5,000,000 in Russian Soviet gold attracted considerable interest.

The weekly steel trade review stated that the industry was holding its recent gains, and that prices remained steady. A downward revision of crude oil prices was reported from the midcontinent field, giving further evidence of continued over-production.

United States Steel common and General Motors received good support, but the gains were only nominal. The sharp advance took place in the high priced industrials and pool specialties, international Business Machines, du Pont, A. M.
Byers, Reynolds Tobacco Co., Chesapeake and Ohio, Canadian Pacific,
Standard Milling, General Railway Signal, Montgomery Ward and Vanadium being among the many issues to sell 3 or more points above yesterday's final quotations.

Weakness of the express shares was believed to represent the traditional "selling on the good news."
Following publication of reports that banking interests had acquired control, as part of a plan to have those properties taken over by the railroads.

GOVERNOR TOO BUSY FOR COUNTY FAIRS
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21 (P).—The rapidly-increasing duties of the Governor make it impossible for him to accept all invitations to county affairs and other local functions. Governor Smith today told a delegation of 200 men representing the New York State Association of County Agricultural Societies and the Association of Town Agricultural Societies, Sensing the disappointment which many of the men present had felt on various occasions when he declined invitations to attend their fairs, the Governor impressed upon the delegation that it had become impossible for him to attend more than one fair a year—that held by the state at Syracuse.

The town and county representatives were here for their annual convention. They were presented to the Governor by Garry A. Willard of Boonville, president of the town group, and Robert Seamon of Jericho, president of county association.

The Right Aim
The man who succeeds is the one who sets his heart on achieving, not on merely accumulating.

Newest Radio
Stunt Succeeds

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 21 (P).— Radio listeners today heard for the first time a two-way radio telephone communication between the United States and England.
They also heard the re-broadcast in the United States of a phonograph record after the music had made a 6,000-mile round trip across the Atlantic.

The broadcast was an experiment on the part of the General Electric Company at Schenectady and the station of the British Marconi Company at Chelmsford, England. The transmission from the United States to England was by experimental station 2XAD, of the General Electric Company, operating on a wave length of 21.36 meters. The transmission from Chelmsford, the Marconi station, was on a 24-meter wave.

Both the receiving and the transmitting instruments fed their output into the transmitter of WGY, operating on a wave length of 279.5 meters, by which the entire proceedings were re-broadcast.

The experiment lasted an hour.
"Hello, 5PW, this is 2XAD," said
L. A. Taylor, who was talking from Schenectady.

After a pause the reply came:
"Are you there, 2XAD? This is Chelmsford. Can you hear me?"

"Not very clearly," replied Mr.
Taylor.

"Suppose we send you over a gramophone record," said the British announcer, whose name was Wilson.
Then came the strains of a musical composition which, Wilson said, was entitled "Twenty Million Frenchmen Can't Go Wrong."

During the transmission of the phonograph music, conditions improved, and then C. P. Edwards of the Canadian department of marine and fisheries at Ottawa, who is visiting in England, sent a message of greeting to be transmitted to E. P.
Edwards, of the General Electric plant at Ottawa.

Schenectady and Chelmsford then compared notes on the quality of reception of previous transatlantic broadcasts. Schenectady inquired regarding "intelligibility."

"I say, that's a regular two-shilling word," the Englishman answered.

The experiment of rebroadcasting phonograph music sent by the Schenectady short wave station to Chelmsford, and rebroadcast from there back to the United States and then "put on the air" by WGY followed. The record chosen was "Down South" by the British composer Myddleton. The rebroadcast, as measured by delicate time pieces,
was one-twentieth of a second behind
the original production.

deaths of Arthur T. Carr, aged 50, of Painted Post, and Miss Dorothy Chase, aged 20, of Addison, whose bodies were found in Carr's apartment yesterday, were caused by acute dilatation of the heart, autopsies performed here today disclosed. What
